

To the Public

Some ministers object to the class of Motion Pictures I am introducing in Honolulu. I believe them to be misinformed and respectfully invite them to attend YE LIBERTY THEATER as my guests, and be convinced, personally, of the merit or demerit of the offerings.

SAM BLAIR.

ALEXANDER HUME FORD ROYAL HOST TO MEMBERS OF FOURTH ESTATE

Members of the Honolulu newspaper fraternity and their wives and friends were the guests of Alexander Hume Ford at a delightful outing at the Outrigger club yesterday. Host Ford had made all preparations for the affair well in advance and upon their arrival, the guests were given the freedom of the club and its facilities. At noon a tasty luncheon was served in the pavilion under the big hau tree, during which time Ford and his guests talked promotion and shop. Following luncheon the members of the party donned bathing suits and took to the water, surf boards and canoes being placed at the disposal of the guests. One of the newspapermen admitted that he had been in Honolulu 21 years and had never ridden the surf in a canoe. He got an unusual taste of Hawaii's greatest sport, however, when he, with several others, was bundled into one of the biggest canoes in the islands, manned by four sturdy Outrigger club members, and taken for long rides on the great, foam-capped breakers. The newspaperman admitted afterward that it was "certainly great," and then made inquiries regarding membership in the club. That everybody had a good time goes without saying. The party broke up late in the afternoon, after a special vote of thanks had been accorded Mr. Ford and the members of the Outrigger club in general.

COHEN DECLARES HIS OFFER DOES NOT DISQUALIFY

"I have three legal opinions now from three of the leading attorneys in the city holding that my offer to give part of my salary, if elected mayor, to a secretary and the balance to charity, does not in any way disqualify me," states J. C. Cohen, Republican candidate for mayor.

The question whether Cohen was disqualified because of his offer was raised Friday and given publication in the Star-Bulletin. The question arose when an opinion by an attorney was given out in which it was held that one who is elected to office by reason of his waiving of the salary attached to it, is not legally elected and can be ousted.

Not wishing to be in doubt as to where his offer left him, Cohen took the question up with three attorneys. He has now received assurances from them that his offer does not disqualify him or in any way interfere with his candidacy for mayor.

An automobile owned by August Belmont knocked down and seriously injured William Lanigan of New York.

CAMERAMEN WORK IN FIERCE HAIL OF SHELL

Amid a deadly hail of lead and steel messengers, dispatched from weapons aimed by a warlike populace of Mexico, Edwin F. Weigle, a cameraman identified with one of the largest moving picture producing companies on the mainland, is credited with having exposed himself probably more than any other man in the business to what seemed sure death to take a series of pictures that are destined to go down into history as a graphic representation of a real battle. Depicting the battle of Vera Cruz, declared as taken on the spot during the fiercest fighting and showing the American marines and sailors taking the city, this picture also clearly presents the boys working their machine guns with deadly effect, later squirming up the street flat on their faces, driving the enemy before them, the Mexican naval academy riddled by shots from the U. S. Prairie, the landing of troops and their going into action, and lastly refugees seeking protection of the stars and stripes. This work has been recently released. It may soon be included in an early program of the new and first run features to be offered patrons at the Empire theater. By express today the Empire has received new western, comedy, dramatic and educational films, the pick to be presented this afternoon and evening.

"ISLE OF SPICE" PROMISES BIG HIT TONIGHT

"I prefer 'The Isle of Spice' because it is prettier and cleverer than any other comic opera that I know of," said the attractive little "Stubby" Myling of the Juvenile Bostonians during one of the pauses in the rehearsal Saturday afternoon.

"And I am not the only one who feels that way toward 'The Isle of Spice.' Ask any of the other members of the company and they will say the same thing."

It is this comic opera which will be presented this evening at the Bijou by the Juvenile Bostonians. It ranks high as one of their greatest successes, and its presentation this evening will no doubt be witnessed by a record-breaking audience.

Crowded with many tuneful songs, such as "Goo Goo Man," "You and I," and "How Can You Tell Till You Try," and permeated with crisp, bright comedy, "The Isle of Spice," as presented by the Juvenile Bostonians, offers an evening's entertainment that cannot be excelled.

It is a happy sort of a light opera from beginning to end.

For two days a doubt existed as to whether the company would be able to present it. A misunderstanding arose over the royalty, which was only settled Saturday after a rapid exchange of cable messages between here and New York. When the last message came, clearing up the last doubt, the little players demonstrated their enthusiasm by insisting on a two hours' extra rehearsal.

"There is some magic about this piece," explained Miss Myling later, "which makes you never tire of rehearsing it. We all have our lines, dances and songs perfect, but still we go ahead rehearsing it and find pleasure in it."

In addition to the regular songs in "The Isle of Spice" a few late Broadway musical hits will be worked in. "The Isle of Spice" will be played the first half of the week.

ANOTHER CROOK PLAY COMING TO THE YE LIBERTY

Manager Blair Invites Ministers to Attend Performance of "Chelsea 7750"

Henry E. Dixey, the famous legitimate star, in the foremost ranks of the American stage today, will appear at Ye Liberty commencing with Wednesday's matinee in "Chelsea 7750." As co-star with Mr. Dixey, Miss Laura Sawyer will be seen for the first time in Honolulu.

"Chelsea 7750" is one of the latest "crook" plays released by the Famous Players Film Company, from the pen of J. Searle Dawley and deals with the depths of the underworld, sounding them to their very dregs.

In the role of a detective Mr. Dixey is afforded ample opportunity to deliver the best that is in him in his trailing of a band of counterfeiters that has long defied detection. The detective meets with many almost insurmountable obstacles but eventually scores a signal victory by the capture of the entire gang.

According to the ablest film critics "Chelsea 7750" connects a noted star with a new success. Wherever this film has been shown it has met popularity instantly and while condemned by many for the simple reason that it is a "crook's" play, the large majority are of the united opinion that the lesson taught through the filming of the mysteries of the submerged half more than counterbalances any ill effects that might be noticed.

Manager Blair of Ye Liberty has invited the clergy of Honolulu, Y. M. C. A. workers, the board of censors, etc., to attend the opening performance of "Chelsea 7750" and give an unbiased opinion of its merits or demerits.

"In the Bishop's Carriage," with pretty Mary Pickford in the stellar role, continues to draw large crowds to Ye Liberty. This will be the offering for tonight and tomorrow night.

POPULAR THEATER

The exhibition of the film of the ground-breaking ceremony created universal interest and filled the Popular both at matinee and evening shows Saturday. The picture received favorable comment and applause. Aside from the excellent views of the crowd that attended, the speakers, Hawaiian musicians, ladies and young girls in the battle of flowers, the films show a good panoramic view of the entire exposition grounds and buildings, with the Golden Gate as a background. This picture will be shown at the matinee today, tonight and tomorrow night. At the same time a great three reel Bison feature entitled, "Raid of the Human Tigers," will be screened. This is a thrilling wild animal and war picture, acted by the company which was recently here with Henry McRae, and is conceded to be one of their best productions. These will be the closing performances of Baby Alma and Pharos. The little favorite will sing new songs and will act as "She" in a realistic burning scene produced by Pharos, with other new and interesting tricks.

The Virginia commissioners to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition dedicated the site for the Virginia building on June 18. This state structure is to be one of the many interesting features of the exposition, as it will be a reproduction of George Washington's Mount Vernon home. Actual furniture used in the Washington home will be provided by Miss Nannie Randolph Heath, official hostess for Virginia. The furniture has been in the Heath, Randolph and Lee families for generations.
